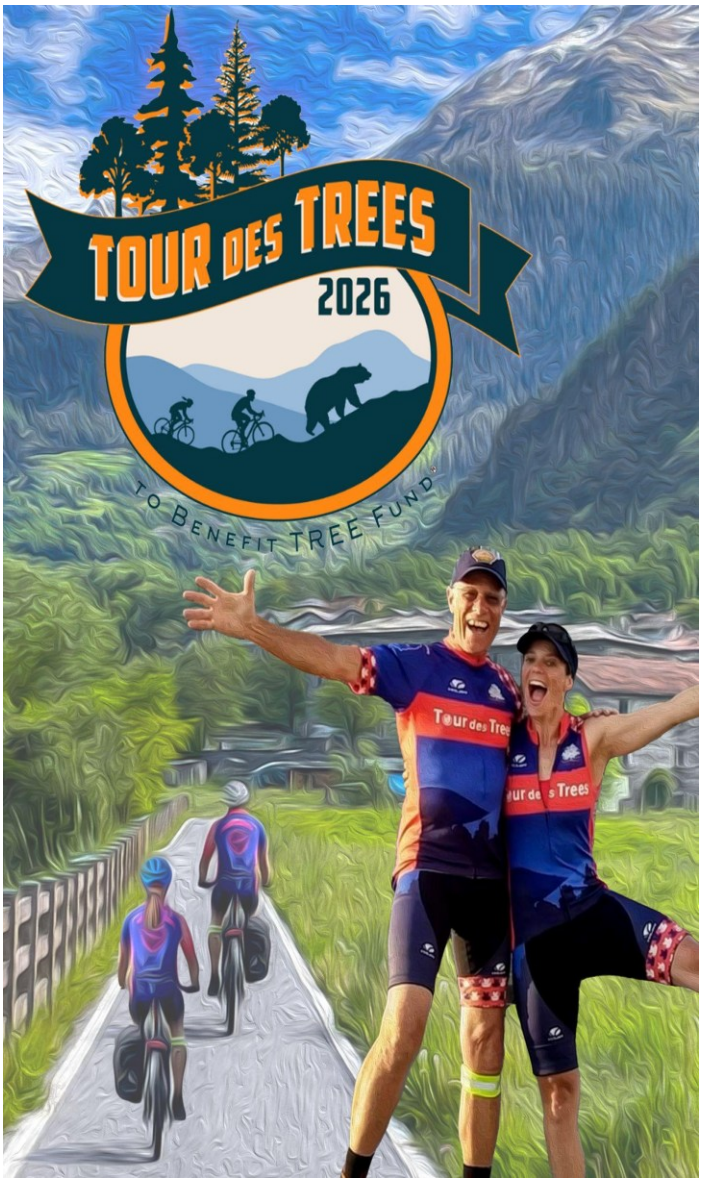
Support our Ride

Who wants to cycle over 300 miles to save our urban canopies? My Daughter and I do!

This September, we're joining the Tour des Trees, pedaling through North and South Carolina to raise money for the TREE Fund. We're prepared for some sore legs, but we're even more excited for the gorgeous scenery and the chance to support a cause we love.



Why Trees?
City trees work hard for us—they cool our streets, clean our air, and make our neighborhoods beautiful. But urban life is tough on them. The TREE Fund provides the research and education that tree care professionals need to keep our "urban forests" healthy and thriving.

Our goal is to raise $7,500 to fund this critical environmental research. We'll be doing the heavy lifting (and the sweating!), but your donations do the real work. All our event costs are covered by the TREE Fund's amazing partners—which means every dollar you give goes straight to the TREE Fund to ensure our communities stay green for generations to come.

How you can help
Whether it's $50, $100, or whatever fits your budget, every bit helps us reach that finish line.
