

NYBG

HORTIE HOOPLA VII
GREEN INDUSTRY INTERN FIELD DAY

Join NYBG's School of Professional Horticulture for its annual field day for interns and seasonal employees involved in the green industry. View the Garden's collections, catch the exhibition The Living Art of Roberto Burle Marx, talk with our Horticulture curators and experts, and test your plant ID skills. Conclude the day with a BBQ, refreshments, games, and prizes!

FREE ADMISSION!

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 2019
10:30 a.m.–8 p.m.

SPEAKERS

Keynote Speaker
Kim Shearer
Tree and Shrub Breeder and Manager of New Plant Development Program, The Morton Arboretum

MY STORY PRESENTATIONS

- Bill Deacon
Director, Landscaping and Field Operations, NY Mets, Citi Field
- Shanti Nagel
Landscape Designer, Principal, Design Wild
- Vinnie Simeone
Director of Planting Fields Arboretum
- Eric Rodriguez
Horticulture Manager, The High Line
- Kadeesha Williams
Community Horticulturist/Urban Agriculturist, Bronx Green-Up

#plantlove

Without plants, life on Earth would be impossible. They give us so much: oxygen, food, shelter, medicine. Plants lift our spirits and inspire us. But we often overlook them—even as threats to their existence have never been greater. At NYBG in 2019, we're showing our love for plants with a year of exhibitions and programs exploring the essential connections between plants, people, and the environment.

Learn more at nybg.org/plantlove